BALANCED NEWS, FEARLESS VIEWS

FROM FLOWER TO FLOWER One needs a sharp eye to spot this stunning butterfly, a mottled emigrant, which blends with the color of the leaves as it flits from one flower to another. This one was seen at the World of Butterflies in Marikina City, a botanical garden and breeding area for butterflies that will be converted into a rehabilitation center for minor offenders by the Department of Social Welfare and Development. The mottled emigrant is a very active butterfly that rarely rests. It is active throughout the year but is most abundant during the pre- and post-monsoon months.

House drops Puno probe

Solons decide not to waste time on ex-usec

By Christian V. Esguerra

AFTER emerging unscathed from a Senate grilling, resigned Interior Undersecretary Rico E. Puno is escaping questioning in a House inquiry into an allegedly irregular police firearms deal.

The reason? The proponents of the House investigation do not want to duplicate the Senate inquiry, which failed to pin down Puno in an alleged cover-up of irregularities in auctions for new firearms for the Philippine National Police and the proliferation of the illegal numbers game jueteng on his watch as interior undersecretary for public order and safety.

Expecting Puno to just replay his cool performance in the Senate inquiry on Friday, the House committee on public order and safety has decided to drop its own investigation into the police firearms program.

Puno resigned on Monday amid suspicions that he tried to remove papers on the investigations into those irregularities from the offices and apartment of Interior Secretary Jesse Robredo a day after the home affairs chief's plane crashed in

Royals sue French mag; Italian weekly to print more topless pics

LONDON—Prince William's wife Catherine on Saturday faced growing embarrassment over topless photos after an Italian magazine said it would follow its French sister publication in printing them.

The British royals launched legal action on Friday against French magazine Closer—which is part of the media empire of former Italian prime minister Silvio Berlusconi—after it published paparazzi snaps of Catherine sunbathing with her husband.

The royal family may have hoped to contain the scandal by swiftly suing Closer—but Chi, an Italian weekly also published by Berlusconi's Mondadori

Rights group fears free speech may be victim of anti-Islam video

SAN FRANCISCO—Internet rights champions are fearful that free speech online may be among the victims of violence spurred by an anti-Islam video posted to YouTube.

A decision by YouTube parent Google to deny access to the video in Libya and Egypt, even though the film's hateful message isn't aimed at a particular person, was seen by some as a compassionate step onto a slippery slope.

Read-along presents Jesse Robredo story as simple guy doing honest work

GONE but not forgotten.

The late Interior Secretary Jesse Robredo was the subject of yesterday morning's special Inquirer Read-Along session held at the Ortigas Foundation library in Pasig City, where close to a hundred kids sat down to learn about the exemplary life of the admired public servant.

Youth celebrities Paolo Valenciano and Khalil Ramos, both first-time storytellers, introduced the children to the life and works of Robredo via Didith Tan Rodrigo's "The Public Servant," which is part of the Ramon Magsaysay Award Foundation's Great Men and Women of Asia Children's Series.

The story features two teens talking about Robredo's stint as Naga City mayor and highlights his hands-on type of leadership. Robredo was named Ramon Magsaysay awardee for Government Service in 2000.

TALK of the TOWN

Considering the strong arguments against the RH bill based on secular sciences, it would be prudent for the state not to provoke a religious-moral crisis among a large majority of the Filipino population

No need for an RH bill, now or ever

THERE is no need for any legislation that guarantees universal access to contraceptives, the so-called reproductive health (RH) care devices, now or ever. Whatever "band-aid" amendments may be proposed by well-intentioned proponents of the RH bill to make it more palatable, the underlying principles behind it are inherently flawed.

By Doris C. Dumlao

HER STORY has become a modern-day legend when told to inspire young people freshly graduating from the Bank of the Philippine Islands' management training programs.

MARIA Theresa Marcial-Javier

A living testament that Southeast Asia's oldest bank has a place for new and promising talents, Maria Theresa Marcial-Javier is the youngest member of BPI's senior management team, having made it to the rank of senior vice president even before turning 40.

Javier—who has the enviable combination of good looks, congeniality and a knack for wealth management—heads BPI's asset management and trust group which is responsible for managing over P700 billion in assets.

"I have been lucky to be at the right place at the right time. Leading the asset management and trust business of the country's most venerable banking institution is a significant career achievement not only for myself but also the history of this business before my time," she tells SundayBiz.

Years of experience

Javier has 19 years of experience in investment research, portfolio management, trading and investment firm operations and business strategy.

Joining BPI after graduate school in 1992 initially as a bond trader, she enlisted in the bank's six-month management program and has never left the bank since then.

Now 42, as the chief investment officer and chair of BPI asset allocation committee, her daily tasks include overseeing the investment process for domestic and foreign currency fixed income and equities mandates for various institutional and individual portfolios, unit trusts and mutual funds.

Come home to Iloilo's First Lake Community

Green Meadows

BRGY. UNGKA, PAVIA, ILOILO

One of the country's prime real estate brands has once again come to test the waters in its attempt to introduce new ways of living to a Filipino province. In their recent attempt, Sta. Lucia Realty & Development, Inc. (SLRDI) approach comes from a more literal perspective.

Known for its penchant for breaking new grounds, the company has begun constructing a 5-hectare lake and joined the municipality of Pavia and the district of Jaro to create a unique community in the province of Iloilo. The project was named Green Meadows.

Spearheaded by SLRDI as the developer and AFP Retirement and Separation Benefit System as the landowner, Green Meadows is the first lake community in Iloilo. A sprawling development of 80 hectares filled with luxurious features, this new development offers an ambitious and alluring lifestyle for its residents.

The main feature of Green Meadows is the Lake Victoria. It offers an exciting way of life for homeowners. Residents of Green Meadows will be given the opportunity to experience numerous water-related activities such as kayaking, jet skiing, boating and fishing. The Paradise Island, which is located at the heart of the lake, offers sophisticated touch of luxury with its recreational pool.

Stretching within Barangay Tacas, Jaro and Barangay Ungka, Pavia, Green Meadows also allows easy access to different parts of Iloilo as it is located along the main road leading to the city. Its location is perfectly situated for the convenience of residents who wish to visit shopping centers like SM City Iloilo and SM Supermarket at Jaro, educational facilities like the University of San Agustin, Central Philippine University, Angelicum School and University of the Philippines Visayas, medical facilities such as Iloilo St. Paul's Hospital and Iloilo Doctors Hospital, and other important locations such as the New Iloilo Airport. Following the creation of its new bridge, Green Meadows greatly reduces the travel time for residents.

The recently completed Jaro floodway located around the property also makes this prime development completely flood-free. As for its amenities, the community is fully equipped with up-to-date features that complete the full package most Sta. Lucia developments offer.

Green Meadows offers lot sizes averaging 150 square meters, with average total contract price of Php 645,000 at Php 4,300 per square meters. Aside from the exquisite features that Green Meadows offers, Sta. Lucia also offers the most convenient payment terms with the lowest monthly amortization of Php 4,300. Potential homeowners and investors can also choose from different types of lots according to location such as Lakeview, Commercial, Lakefront, the Palms and the Groves.

Once again, Sta. Lucia's efforts bring a new way of life to another Filipino province. With the recent developments to a promising project, Green Meadows draws closer to fulfilling its tagline that invites people to "come home to Iloilo's first lake community."

For more information, contact our head office at (02) 635-49 46 or our Iloilo Branch at (033) 333-21 46 and 09228983073.

How Manila has become a portrait of ugliness

The willful defacing of the cultural landscape continues–from Rizal Park, Intramuros, Plaza Miranda to the Metropolitan Theater. And those tacky lampposts–ugh!

By Constantino C. Tejero

When in an interview on US television "The Bourne Legacy" director Tony Gilroy said that after seeing Jakarta and Saigon he decided to shoot his movie in Manila because it felt so "Bourne"-ish, he was just being factual.

The team headed by Bobby Dy, Ayala Land EVP and Commercial Business Group Head, along with Rowena Tomeldan, VP and Head of Operations – Commercial Business Group, and Cora Dizon, VP and Head of Business Development and Strategic Planning – Commercial Business Group accepted the awards last September 11, 2012.

'Thy Womb' Venice diaries

Nora Aunor, Lovi Poe and Mercedes Cabral explore the old city in a five-day whirl

DIRECTOR Brillante Mendoza with actress Mercedes Cabral (in a gown by Mitch Dencio) during the closing ceremony.

By Bayani San Diego Jr.

VENICE was a whirl of photo shoots, interviews and red-carpet excitement for the three Filipino actresses—Nora Aunor, Lovi Poe and Mercedes Cabral—who accompanied director Brillante Mendoza for the recent premiere of their film, "Thy Womb," at the world's oldest film festival.

"Surreal" was how Cabral described the experience. "It was as if I was dreaming. I couldn't believe I was walking on the red carpet in Venice." Poe recalled being "nervous."

The Filipino trio was especially proud seeing the Filipino flag fluttering in the wind as they walked to the cinema, where the movie was to be screened, related Boy Palma, Aunor's manager.

Since they couldn't travel with a team of stylists, Aunor and Cabral had done their own hair and makeup for the event. "I tried my best to look glamorous," Aunor told Inquirer.

As luck would have it, Poe's makeup artist, Denis Mariano, and hair stylist, John Valle, were touring Europe at the time. "I asked if they could pass by Venice to help me get dolled up," the young star said.

Pressed for time

Poe donned a black gown (by Cary Santiago) for the red carpet at the premiere. Cabral wore Cebu-based designer Harvey Cabili's sexy corset gown.

"For the awards ceremony on Sept. 8," said Cabral, "I wore Mitch Dencio's black gown." At the awards show, the Pinoys didn't get to stretch down the red carpet because they had been pressed for time. Aunor was escorted by actor John Rendez.

LOVI Poe plays with pigeons at the San Marco Piazza.

In spite of the hectic pace, Poe found the five-day whirlwind Venice trip "exciting."

The actresses got to sample various restaurants in the city as guests of producer Melvin Mangada and Philippine Ambassador to Italy Virgilio Reyes Jr., who flew in from Rome.

"We got to extend our stay by only a day," Aunor said.

Though she didn't get to ride a gondola, Aunor made sure to pose for a snapshot by the world-famous Grand Canal—playfully recreating a dramatic scene from the movie shot in Tawi-Tawi.

"Nothing fancy," Aunor
